

DISCLAIMER

The goal of the Metro Real Estate Investors Association (MREIA) is to educate investors, based on information edited from material contributed by leaders in the real estate investing, legal, accounting, property management, financial, legislative and other related professions.

We do not render legal, accounting, tax, investment or other professional services either through our e-newsletter, the Metro or at general meetings. We disclaim all liability for actions (or inactions) taken as a result of any communications between the Board of Directors, appointed officers and the membership. No warranties, expressed or implied, are provided for the data we publish, its use or its interpretation.

We do not officially endorse any product, project, person or organization. Before making any investment decision, you are urged to seek advice from qualified and competent professionals and to use due diligence before using any product, services or ideas presented in the Metro or at general meetings. At times the Board may take particular positions or points of view on matters regarding the real estate industry. Said positions do not represent solicitations.

Our speakers are permitted to sell any products or services they may have to offer our members or non-members. The opinions expressed by the speakers and writers do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Executive Committee or Advisory Board.

By attending any of the activities provided by this association, you hereby release, discharge and agree to indemnify the club name, its respective officers, directors, members, employees and/or contractors, past or present, from any and all liabilities associated with our organization.
